INTRODUCTORY.

OFFICE OF CITY DIRECTORY,
COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO.,
August 15, 1890.

This is the fifth Directory of Colorado Springs, Colorado City, and Manitou. The gain in population in the two years since the last Directory was published is about 6,000. The present total population, including the floating, as well as the permanent portion, is 16,500, divided as follows: Colorado Springs, 12,000; Colorado City, 2,150; Manitou, 2,250. The percentage of increase has been growing larger each year, and the outlook for the future growth and prosperity was never better.

Neither labor nor expense have been spared to make the Directory as accurate and complete as possible. In a community where changes are so frequent and general as they are here, omissions and inaccuracies are unavoidable, but they are as few as is possible.

Very truly,

S. N. FRANCIS, Publisher.

COLORADO SPRINGS.

LOCATION.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colorado City and Manitou, the three cities which lie at the base of Pike's Peak, are practically one, and are situated nearly in the geographical center of the state. It is seventy-five miles north to Denver, forty-five miles south to Pueblo, one hundred and twenty miles west to Leadville, and about eight hundred miles east to the Missouri River. They are on the level ground at the western edge of the great plains, on the banks of the Fountain and Monument creeks, which unite within their limits. The distance from the center of Colorado Springs to that of Manitou is five miles, to Colorado City two miles.

EL PASO COUNTY, of which Colorado Springs is the county-seat, possesses considerable resources in agriculture and grazing, mines of coal, cement and mineral paint, extensive quarries of building stone and gypsum, mineral springs and a wonderful collection of natural beauties and curiosities. Of the villages which are supported by farming communities are Monument, Fountain, Franceville, Florissant, Husted, Edgerton, Widefield, Little Buttes and others, while Palmer Lake, Glen Park, Cascade, Ute Park, Green Mountain Falls and Woodland Park form a cluster of summer resorts unequaled for attractiveness and healthfulness.

RAILROADS.

Two railroads, the D. & R. G. and Colorado Midland, extend through the three cities, with frequent daily trains; The Rock Island Route gives direct eastern communication, while for Denver and Pueblo besides those already named the traveler may select among the Santa Fe, the Missouri Pacific and the Fort Worth branch of the Union Pacific. A complete system of electric local transit will be finished this summer, with a total extent of twenty-five miles, in five branches: I. Colorado Springs, Colorado City and Manitou. II. Colorado Springs north by Tejon street. III. Colorado Springs north, west of Monument creek. IV. Colorado Springs east to Austin Bluffs. V. Colorado Springs south to Cheyenne Canon. The Pike's Peak railroad extends from Manitou to the summit of Pike's Peak, and is a cog-wheel road.

COLORADO SPRINGS

was founded in 1871, by the Fountain colony. The aim from the first has been to make it a "City of Homes," and success has been notable. The tree-lined streets are 100 to 140 feet in width and the blocks 400 feet square. The lots are large and in most cases handsomely improved, and in summer the city is a mass of verdure and flowers. Originally the city was confined to a small table land, east of the Monument, but its continual growth has extended it until it now practically extends five miles from the east line of East Colorado City to the east line of the Austin Bluffs town site, and six miles from North Colorado Springs to Cheyenne Lake. The soil is a mixture of clay and sand which makes excellent city streets and country roads, which are never muddy. The city is lighted by gas and electricity, and has a local telephone exchange which is also connected with Denver and Pueblo. There is a first-class school system with High school, a Catholic academy, and Colorado College, an institution of higher education of acknowledged standing and thoroughness. Connected with the college is also a preparatory school, the Cutler Academy for those who wish studies of college grade without Greek, and chemical and mineralogical laboratories for special work.

THE WATER SYSTEM

includes a double supply, of open ditches for irrigation of trees and lawns, and pipe-lines for household use. It may be said that the water supply of these cities is unequaled in the world. The close proximity to the mountains insures sufficient pressure and almost absolute purity. The main irrigation ditch is fourteen miles in length. The main water pipe is six miles long and fourteen inches in diameter.

PUBLIC PARKS.

The city has already a foundation for a most beautiful and unique park system. Besides three small squares in the city, there is a reservoir site west of town, a larger reservoir on the east, and a park of 160 acres at the mouth of Cheyenne Canon, one of the most beautiful of the mountain canons. By a recent gift of Congress, there has been granted to the city a tract of land including Lake Moraine, at the base of Pike's Peak, which will also be used for reservoir purposes.

THE PUBLIC BUILDINGS

of Colorado Springs are substantial and attractive. Some of the more important are: Antlers Hotel, cost, $250,000; Opera House, $80,000; Bank Building, $200,000; Hagerman Block, $100,000; State Deaf Mute and Blind Institute, old and new buildings, $125,000; Presbyterian, Congregational and Baptist churches, $130,000. There are two handsome Union Depots, three Hospitals, three large brick school buildings; two large, well-built halls of Colorado College, and numerous business blocks, hotels, churches of all the leading denominations, and fine residences, distributed in various parts of the city.

TEMPERANCE.

Colorado Springs has been and is a temperance town. A clause in each deed prohibits the sale of liquor under penalty of forfeiture. State law permits the city law to prohibit only retail trade. Reputable druggists may sell at wholesale and for medicinal purposes under $2000 bonds and $1000 yearly license. There are no saloons.

AS A TRADE CENTER

the city is of ever-increasing importance. Besides the local trade and that from the surrounding towns, in several lines, especially groceries, hardware, saddlery and carriages, and hides, wool and furs, a large wholesale trade is centered here. The liberal Colorado laws offer advantages for the formation of companies for mining, stock-raising, railroading and irrigation which have not been unimproved and a large number of these have their official headquarters in this city, while many directors and stockholders find no more agreeable place of residence. There are three banks, two daily and four weekly newspapers, six large hotels, and numerous stores of nearly every kind with complete stocks of goods.

WORLD'S SANITARIUM.

As a health or pleasure resort either in summer or winter, Colorado Springs' and Manitou's joint claim to pre-eminence has never been successfully contested. The dry, pure light air works wonders in lung troubles and nervous exhaustion; the cool, summer breezes invite to open-air life and exercises equally with the winter's sunshine; and the wondrous aggregation of mountains, canons, cliffs, waterfalls, caves, groves and plains, all within easy reach by good roads or romantic trails, delight the visitor and offer never-failing attractions to the permanent residents.

COLORADO CITY.

TWO miles west of Colorado Springs there lies a level plain extending on both sides of Fountain Creek and rising in terraces to the north and south. This is the site of Colorado City, the manufacturing center of El Paso County.

This is one of the oldest towns in the state, and has a most interesting history. It was regularly incorporated in the fall of 1858, during the Pike's Peak gold excitement, and was made the capital of the territory in 1861 by the first territorial legislature. Ex-Governor Gilpin was governor at the second session, which met in June, 1862. Shortly after Governor Evans was appointed by the president, he adjourned the legislature to Golden, and afterwards to Denver, the latter of which, by virtue of its advantages and controlling influences, became the capital. El Paso was first recognized as a county by Governor Gilpin. In the contest for the location of the county seat, Colorado Springs gained the day in 1873. After the removal of the capital and county seat, the town soon lost its prestige, and was only peopled by a class who could not get away, or who had made homes here and did not wish to leave them. In 1886, in consequence of the building of the Midland Railway, Colorado City awoke from its slumber, and rapidly increased in population and importance. The population in 1886 was about 100, the directory of that year containing 47 names; in 1887, it was 400; in 1888, 1,500, and at the present time not less than 2,100.

Colorado City is connected with Colorado Springs and Manitou by two lines of railway and an electric street car line. It has an abundant water supply for domestic and irrigating purposes, telephone exchange, electric lights, three newspapers, and a good graded school system. There are five churches and thirteen benevolent lodges and societies.

The machine shops and round house of the Colorado Midland Railway, located at this place, furnish steady support to a large number of workmen and their families. Other prominent industries of the place are the Colorado Stucco, Brick and Cement works, the Ute Pass Mineral Paint works, the Colorado City Glass works, a brewery, bottling works, machine shops, and many of minor importance. Within a short distance are the famous Kenmuir quarries of red and white sandstone, which are extensively worked, and inexhaustible beds of limestone.

The expectations for the near future include a smelter, zinc reduction works and the State Soldiers' Home. The position of the city gives it unsurpassed advantages as a manufacturing center. It has ample railway connections, central location, abundant water supply, plenty of cheap land for factories and homes. The county taxes are very low, and the high license system provides for all expenses of the city government. The present inhabitants are wide awake, liberal, moral and intelligent, and ready to welcome any who come to aid in building up their city.

MANITOU SPRINGS.

MANITOU lies in a narrow valley five miles west of Colorado Springs, at the foot of Pike's Peak. By judicious advertising it has become what Nature designed it should be, the most fashionable summer resort of the west. Its altitude is 6,400 feet above the level of the sea, and it has about 1,500 permanent residents, with churches, schools, pleasant residences, and six large, first-class hotels; also numerous other hotels and boarding houses. During the summer months it swarms with life, its hotels overflow, and private houses take in strangers; summer cottages and tents are perched like birds' nests on the hillsides, among the rocks, and in the canons, and in every available place.

It is the wonderful mineral springs that have so largely added to the fame of this delightful resort. What was first chosen as a pleasant place for quiet homes has become a sanitary retreat, whose remedial results have attracted the attention of scientists all over the world. Truly is it called the "Saratoga of the West," but it possesses worth of waters that no Saratoga east, north; or south, or Spa, on the continent possesses, and the day is not far distant when the great medicinal merits of these mountain springs will become more generally understood, and the ailing and sick of all Christendom will be wending their way thitherward to secure from nature simple prescriptions more effective in bodily and mental ailments than that which the combined scientific knowledge of all the medical school in the world can furnish.

This mineral water is now being bottled and is offered to the public abroad in carbonated form by the Manitou Mineral Water, Bath and Park Company. It is said to retain its freshness and sparkle after being bottled longer than any other natural water in the world.

For those who admire the grand in nature, the mountains tower in the western heavens, marshaled and captained by Pike's Peak; for those who are moved by vastness, the mysterious plains stretch boundless to the east; for those who love gentler aspects, the valley of the Fountain qui Bouille, glowing with greenery and planked with flowers, affords perennial pleasure.

Manitou Springs has also claims as a winter resort, which are becoming recognized; and it will soon be regarded, as it undoubtedly is, the best winter resort in the west, especially for invalids; being sheltered by the mountains from the cold northeast winds, which are the prevailing storm winds of the state, and is in every respect more comfortable and pleasant than cities and towns situated on the open plains. Having a gravel soil, there is no alkaline dust to irritate the throat and lungs. The stillness of the atmosphere and contiuous warm sunshine throughout the day more than compensates for the few minutes' earlier sunset. With its bright, warm sunshine, fresh air, pure water, good food, and superior tonic springs, Manitou Springs has claims which are paramount to those of any other resort in America.

BROADMOOR. OFFICE: 21 N. Tejon Street.

The hotel accommodations are first class, and while many of the large, and most of the small, houses are only open during the summer, at all times the visitor may find good rooms and board at reasonable prices.

Society here is represented by many of its best people. The evenings are made merry with hops and social gatherings, and delightful walks among the myriad attractions this place affords.

There are three churches here—the Congregational, Episcopal, and a Catholic—all of which have new and comfortable edifices, substantial and growing congregations.

There are two railroads to Manitou—the Colorado Midland and the Denver and Rio Grande—and trains run to and from here every few hours. It is also connected with other places by a complete telegraph and telephone system.

Once domiciled in Manitou, the way to enjoy it to the utmost is in the saddle. The riding horses are excellent. Comfortable saddles for ladies and well trained horses are furnished by all the livery stables.

There are more points of interest near Manitou Springs than any other watering place in the world. Among the places which should be visited by all who come to this locality are:

Cheyenne Mountain, over the new carriage road leading through beautiful mountain scenery to Beaver Creek, and by the Seven Lakes to the summit of Pike's Peak.

South Cheyenne Canon to the Seven Falls, and North Cheyenne Canon; Ute Pass and the Rainbow Falls; Iron

Springs in Engleman's Canon; Manitou Grand Caverns, Ute Pass; Manitou Canon and the Grotto therein; summit of Pike's Peak, either by Bear or Ruxton Creeks; Williams' Canon and Cave of the Winds; Manitou Park in the mountains; Garden of the Gods; Glen Eyre; Monument Park; Blair Athol; Crystal Park. In the upper part of the Ute Pass a cluster of charming summer resorts have been established, easily accessible from Manitou for a day's picnicing either by rail or wagon road. These include Cascade, Ute Park, Green Mountain Falls, and Woodland Park. From Cascade a wagon road leads to the summit of Pike's Peak.

The Pike's Peak Railway, whose lower terminus is in Manitou, is one of the wonders of the modern world. It is a cog-wheel road, on the Abt system, nine miles in length. In that distance it climbs 7,700 feet, with a maximum grade of twenty-five per cent.

In addition to this there are many well known localities, scores of canons, caves, water-falls and charming nooks, which the sojourner for health or pleasure can seek out for himself.
